

Purchaser charter

2026 edition — Contractual information document

Purpose

Dog Attitude prepares each purchase project by appointment. An individual assessment considers the puppy, the proposed household and the purchaser's practical skills. Early observations cannot guarantee adult temperament.

Preparation and workshops

Preparatory sessions assess understanding of cues, handling, timing, puppy mouthing and settling. Workshops are separate from the statutory certificate of commitment and knowledge.

Profile and safety

The profile questionnaire must be completed, dated and signed before reservation confirmation. The purchaser provides accurate information about experience, household, other animals, housing, routine and availability, and reports material changes before handover.

Development and integration

The breeder provides gradual early experiences, suitable social contact and appropriate puppy welfare. After handover, the purchaser continues age-appropriate experiences, rest, prevention of overstimulation and consistent training.

Health and veterinary care

The puppy is handed over with applicable transfer and health records, including identification, veterinary certificate, health booklet or passport where available, and records of vaccinations actually administered. The purchaser remains free to choose a veterinarian. Statutory remedies are not excluded merely because a different veterinarian was consulted.

Training follow-up

Suitable continuing training is recommended, particularly for Malinois with demanding needs. The chosen professional should have relevant practical experience. Any specific contractual training requirement must be clearly agreed and proportionate.

Records and signature

This charter supplements the reservation agreement and does not replace statutory transfer documents. Date: _____ Name: _____ Purchaser signature: _____

Reservation and purchaser rights

This charter does not alter the reservation terms: puppy price €1,500, contractual €500 “acompte” and €1,000 balance. Cancellation and non-allocation options are governed by the reservation agreement. No blanket waiver of statutory rights is required.
